Bluegrass Band Classes Resume

The Bluegrass Hall of Fame resumes Spring classes at 311 W 2nd St in Owensboro KY. Classes begin April 3rd and run every other Saturday until June 26th. Students will receive music (chord sheets and tabs) digitally via email ahead of time. No hard copies will be given out at class. Beginner class is for advanced beginners and intermediate musicians that play guitar, fiddle, mandolin, banjo, or bass and already know the basics on their instrument. If they play the fiddle or mandolin, they must know how to read simple tablature. Intermediate students learn how to play in a band with other instruments and this class will move at a medium pace. Advanced students will move at a faster pace and study instrument technique, jamming, understanding Keys, using capo, chord changes, etc.

Email Randy Lanham for questions about the classes at highhopesmusic@hotmail.com

Low Ticket Alert

Tyminski Tix Nearly Gone

On April 10th, Dan Tyminski will perform two shows at the Hall of Fame in Owensboro. With 14 GRAMMYs, Tyminski has left his mark on bluegrass music playing guitar and mandolin for Alison Krauss and Union Station since 1994. His voice famously accompanies George Clooney's performance of "I'm A Man of Constant Sorrow," in the film, Oh Brother, Where Art Thou.

Presented by American Patriot Getaways, Tyminski will be joined by a full band, including Grammy winner Adam Steffey and Maddie Denton. Capacity is very limited. Tickets:

ETSU Bluegrass Pride Band Issues New Release

JOHNSON CITY TN, MAR. 27 – East Tennessee State University's Bluegrass Pride Band has teamed up with award-winning alumni Becky Buller and Tim Stafford in When the Water Goes Down, available now as a single and video.

The Buller-Stafford original is a historical fiction based around the town of Butler, TN, which was flooded by the Tennessee Valley Authority in 1948. As part of reposition, the entire town was moved to higher ground above the newly created Watauga Lake. Local citizens returned to the long-covered community in 1983, when the lake was drawn down for dam repairs.

That is where the history ends, and the mystery begins.

When the Water Goes Down conjures a tale of an evil backsliding minister whose wife, Margie, could "never make a preacher's wife." For 35 years he walked free, until his congregation returned to Butler to retrieve the church cornerstone during the lake's draw down. Even the deep waters of the Watauga could not wash away sins of the past.

A woman is on trial for assaulting her fiancé with his guitar collection.

Notes From All Over

“Best Bluegrass” Grammy winner Home, Billy Strings’s second studio album reshapes bluegrass in his own way, incorporating elements of punk, country, folk rock, and genuine psychedelic exploration to fashion something altogether original and all his own. Strings has infused bluegrass with his own experiences and inspirations, adopting traditional sonic and lyrical idioms to confront contemporary social truths. Songs like Away From The Mire and the remarkable title track are rooted in the past but as now as next week, animated by electrifying musicianship, inventive production, and Strings’ irrepressible ambition.

During the middle decades of the 20th century, the factories of southwestern Ohio drew hundreds of thousands of migrants from Appalachia, including innumerable musicians. Industrial Strength Bluegrass celebrates the music that these migrants made and loved, and explores a pivotal moment in the history of bluegrass and country music at large. Produced by Joe Mullins, the collection features many modern legends like Lee Ann Womack and Mo Pitney, plus a stellar lineup including Rhonda Vincent, Bobby Osborne, and Mullins himself, taking on tunes that have echoed across Ohio for decades.

A fiddle prodigy who received a Grammy nod for his 2017 Compass release, Portraits In Fiddles, Mike Barnett returns with a new album of 14 duets he’s titled +1. Though he’s a Nashville native who became a professional player at a young age as part of Jesse McReynolds’s band, Barnett can still be considered among the recent crop of breakout talent. Barnett holds down fiddle duties as a member of Ricky Skaggs and Kentucky Thunder, has been working on +1 over a period of four years, with guests including Sierra Hull, Sarah Jarosz, Molly Tuttle, Ricky Skaggs and more.
